

SolisLabs

How this supplement maker found success using PlastiQ Accept to get paid with no merchant fees.

Here's what you'd call a strong market.

The multi-vitamin and supplement business is booming these days, and nowhere is that more evident than at SolisLabs. As a contract manufacturer of dietary supplements to multiple third-party brands, they've seen their business take off. And to help simplify how their clients pay them, they began to offer PlastiQ Accept. Want to know how it worked for them?

An easy pill to swallow.

"I was looking for a solution and I needed one really fast," said Sarah Whyte, Founder of SolisLabs. "We didn't accept credit cards before because I just didn't want to deal with it." With no integration needed, SolisLabs was up and running with PlastiQ Accept in no time. Their customers quickly followed suit. "We just started using PlastiQ Accept less than a month ago and already, almost everyone has been paying with a credit card."

Multi-vitamins. Multi-benefits.

Bottles keep flying out the door for a few reasons. One is PlastiQ Accept's ease of payment. "They just click on that link through QuickBooks, it takes them to PlastiQ, and then they fill in the details," Sarah said. The second reason is PlastiQ's low fees. "The fees were a lot higher [with other methods], and PlastiQ is only 2.9%."

A full serving of success.

“The experience so far has been really great,” Sarah told us. So the next time you take a supplement or pour yourself a protein shake, remember it might be possible due to the experts at SolisLabs with some help from PlastiQ Accept.

Faster payments. More business.

PlastiQ Accept lets SolisLabs send payment links and invoices quickly and easily. Their clients don't even have to be PlastiQ users to pay them via credit card or cash payment. Funds hit the SolisLabs bank account faster than checks, so they can more easily account for every client they work with.

All our clients are now on PlastiQ... this will be our biggest year yet.

Sarah Whyte, SolisLabs Founder

To learn more about SolisLabs, visit Solislabs.com. And for more about how PlastiQ Accept helps small businesses, you can find us at PlastiQ.com

For more information contact us directly at accept@plastiQ.com